HOUSES

PART - 2

Home Sweet Home

What is a home?

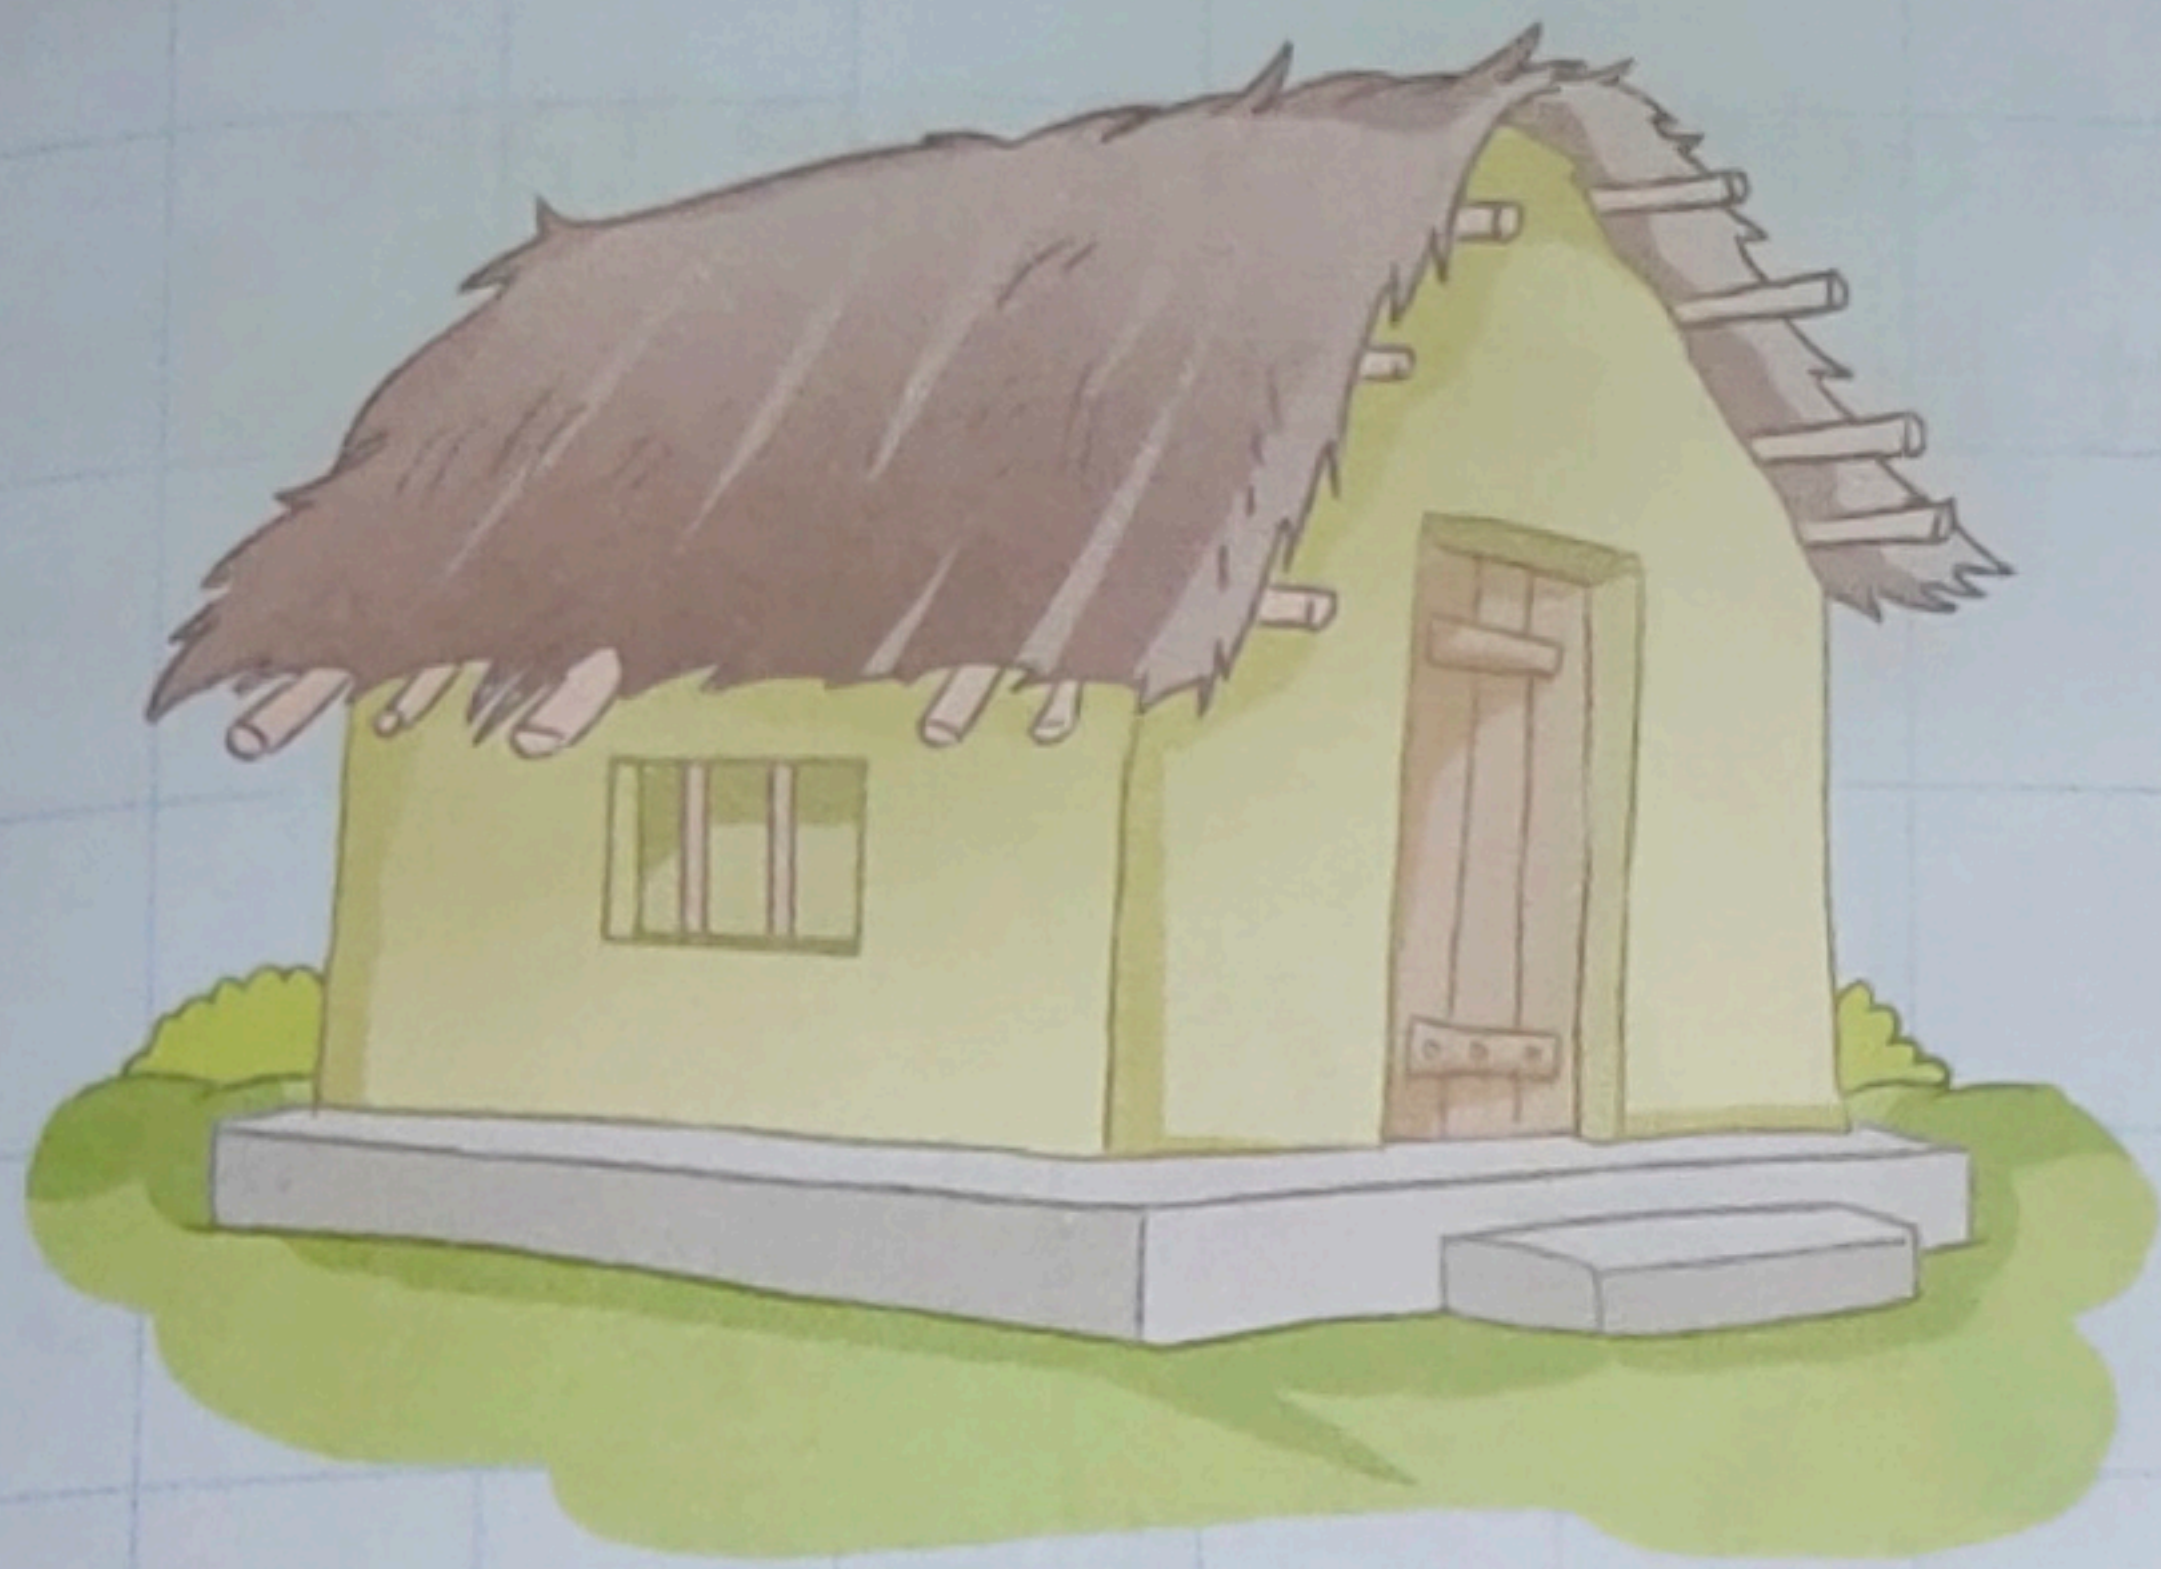

Home is a house where you live with your family.

Everyone needs a place to live. Our home protects us from heat, cold, wind, rain, wild animals and thieves. We feel safe inside our home.

Many years ago, early human beings lived in caves and on treetops. But, now we build so many different kinds of houses.

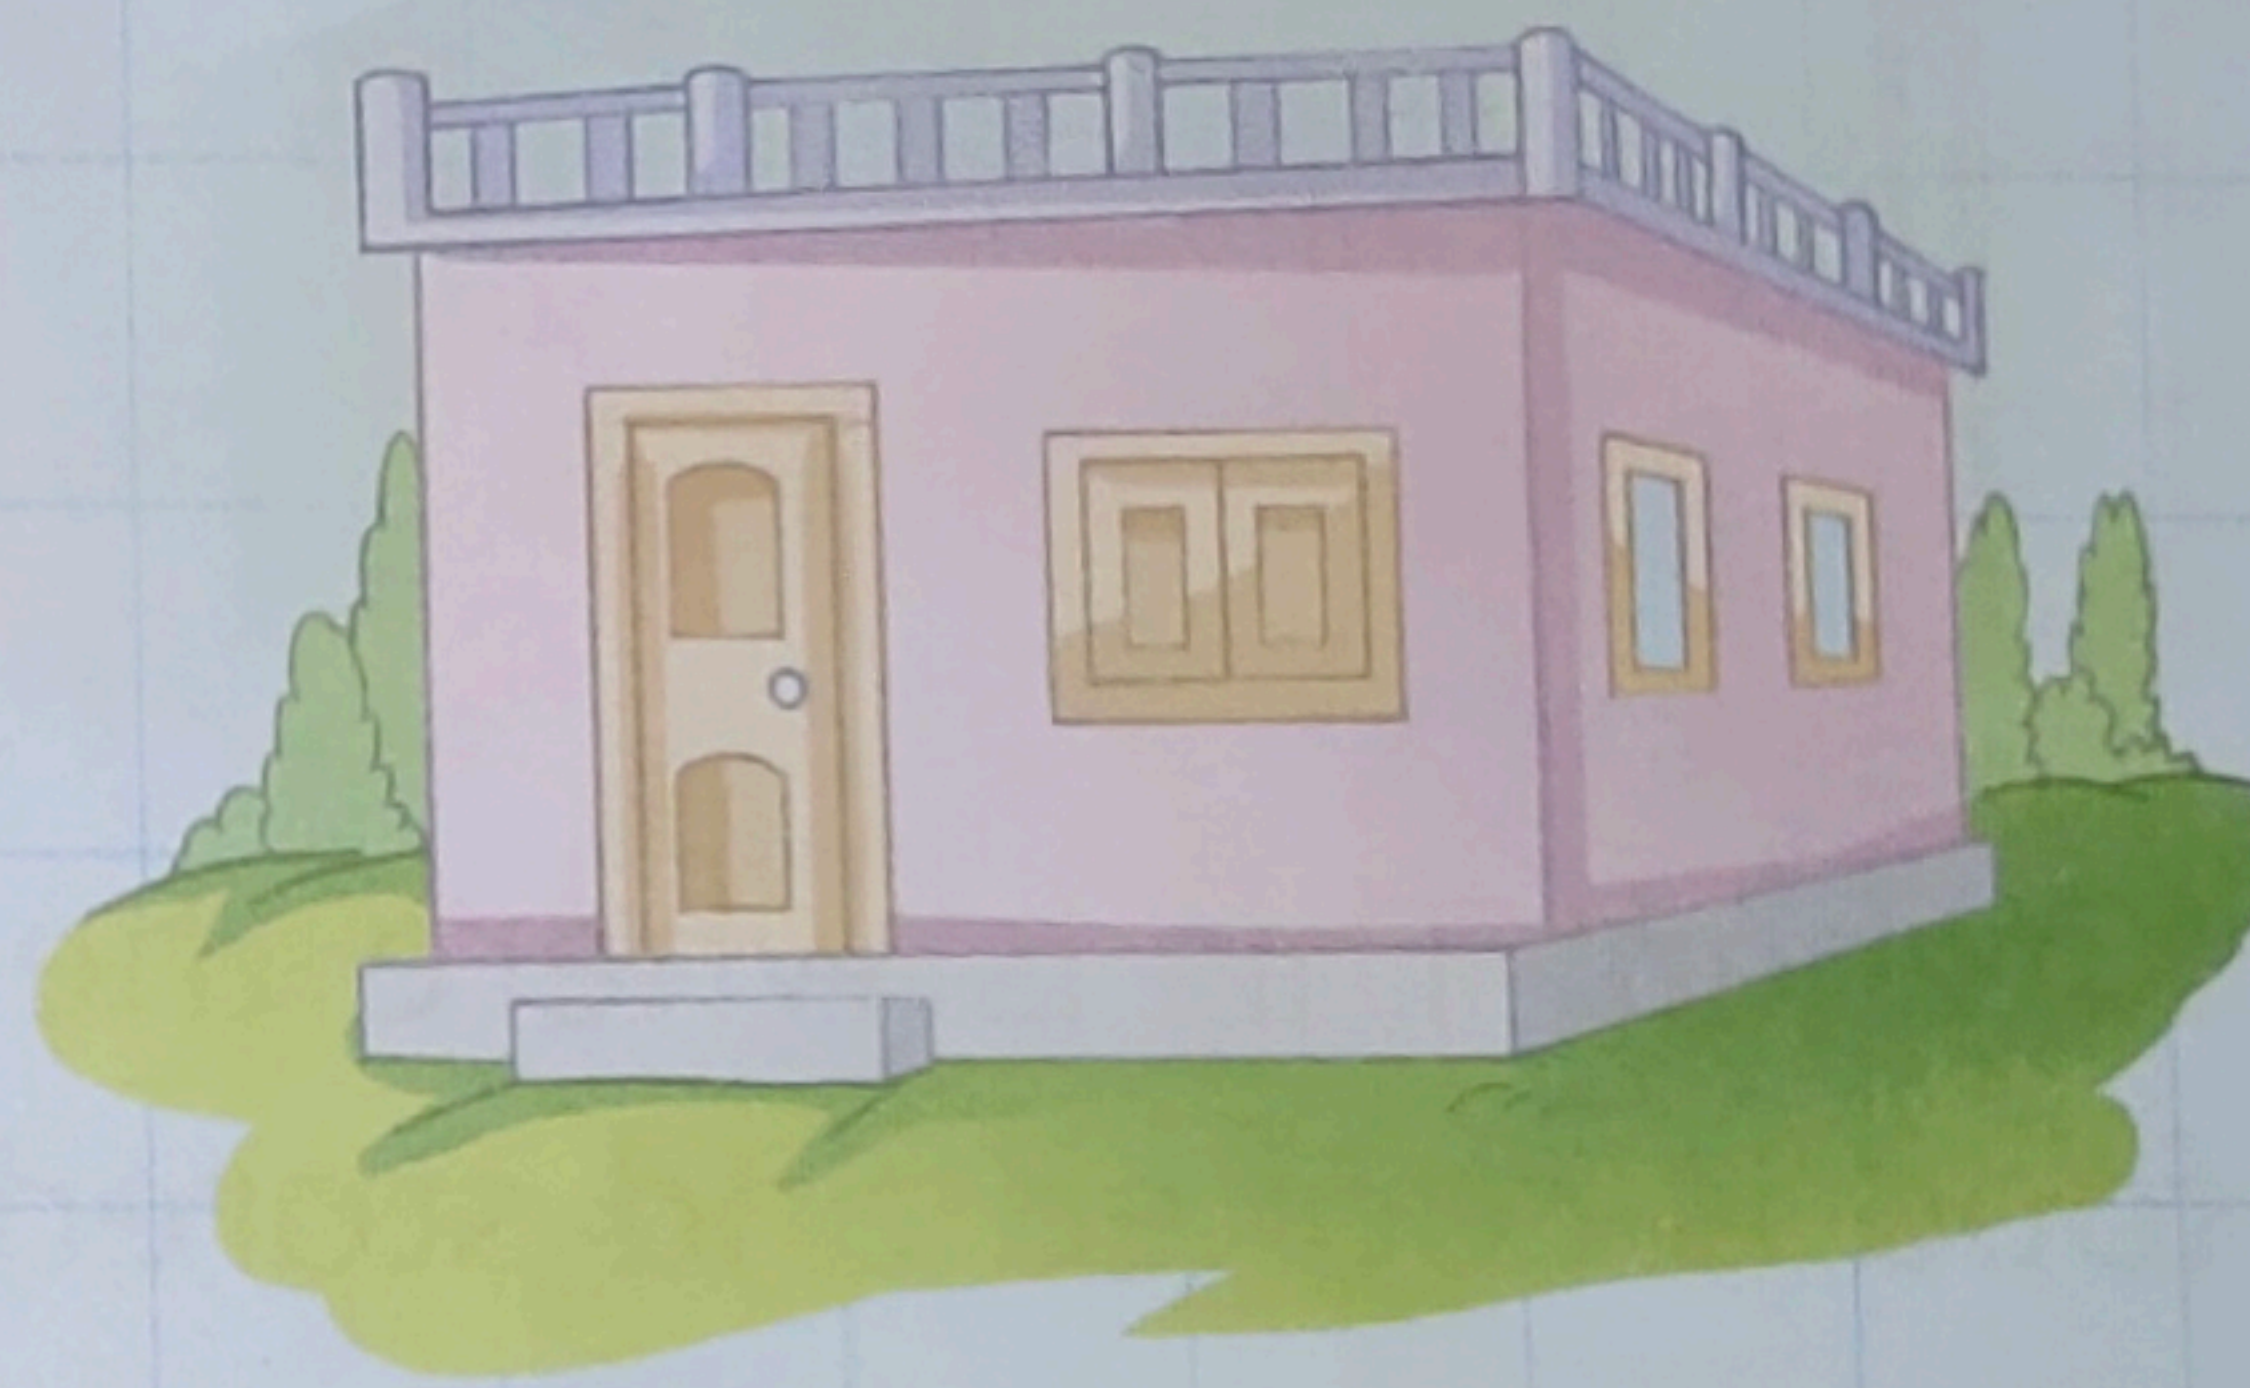

Kutcha house and Pucca house

There are two kinds of houses – Kutcha house and Pucca house.

Kutcha house: A kutcha house is made up of mud, straw, bamboo and leaves. It is also known as hut. Such houses are usually found in villages.

Pucca house: A pucca house is made up of bricks, iron rods, cement, steel, glass and wood. These houses are mostly found in cities and towns.

Look at your house and identify its different parts, such as walls, roof, floor, garage, windows, doors and rooms.

Different rooms in a house

A house has different rooms. Every room has its own purpose.

Drawing room: This is the place where we sit and talk with our family members and watch television. We also meet our guests in the drawing room.

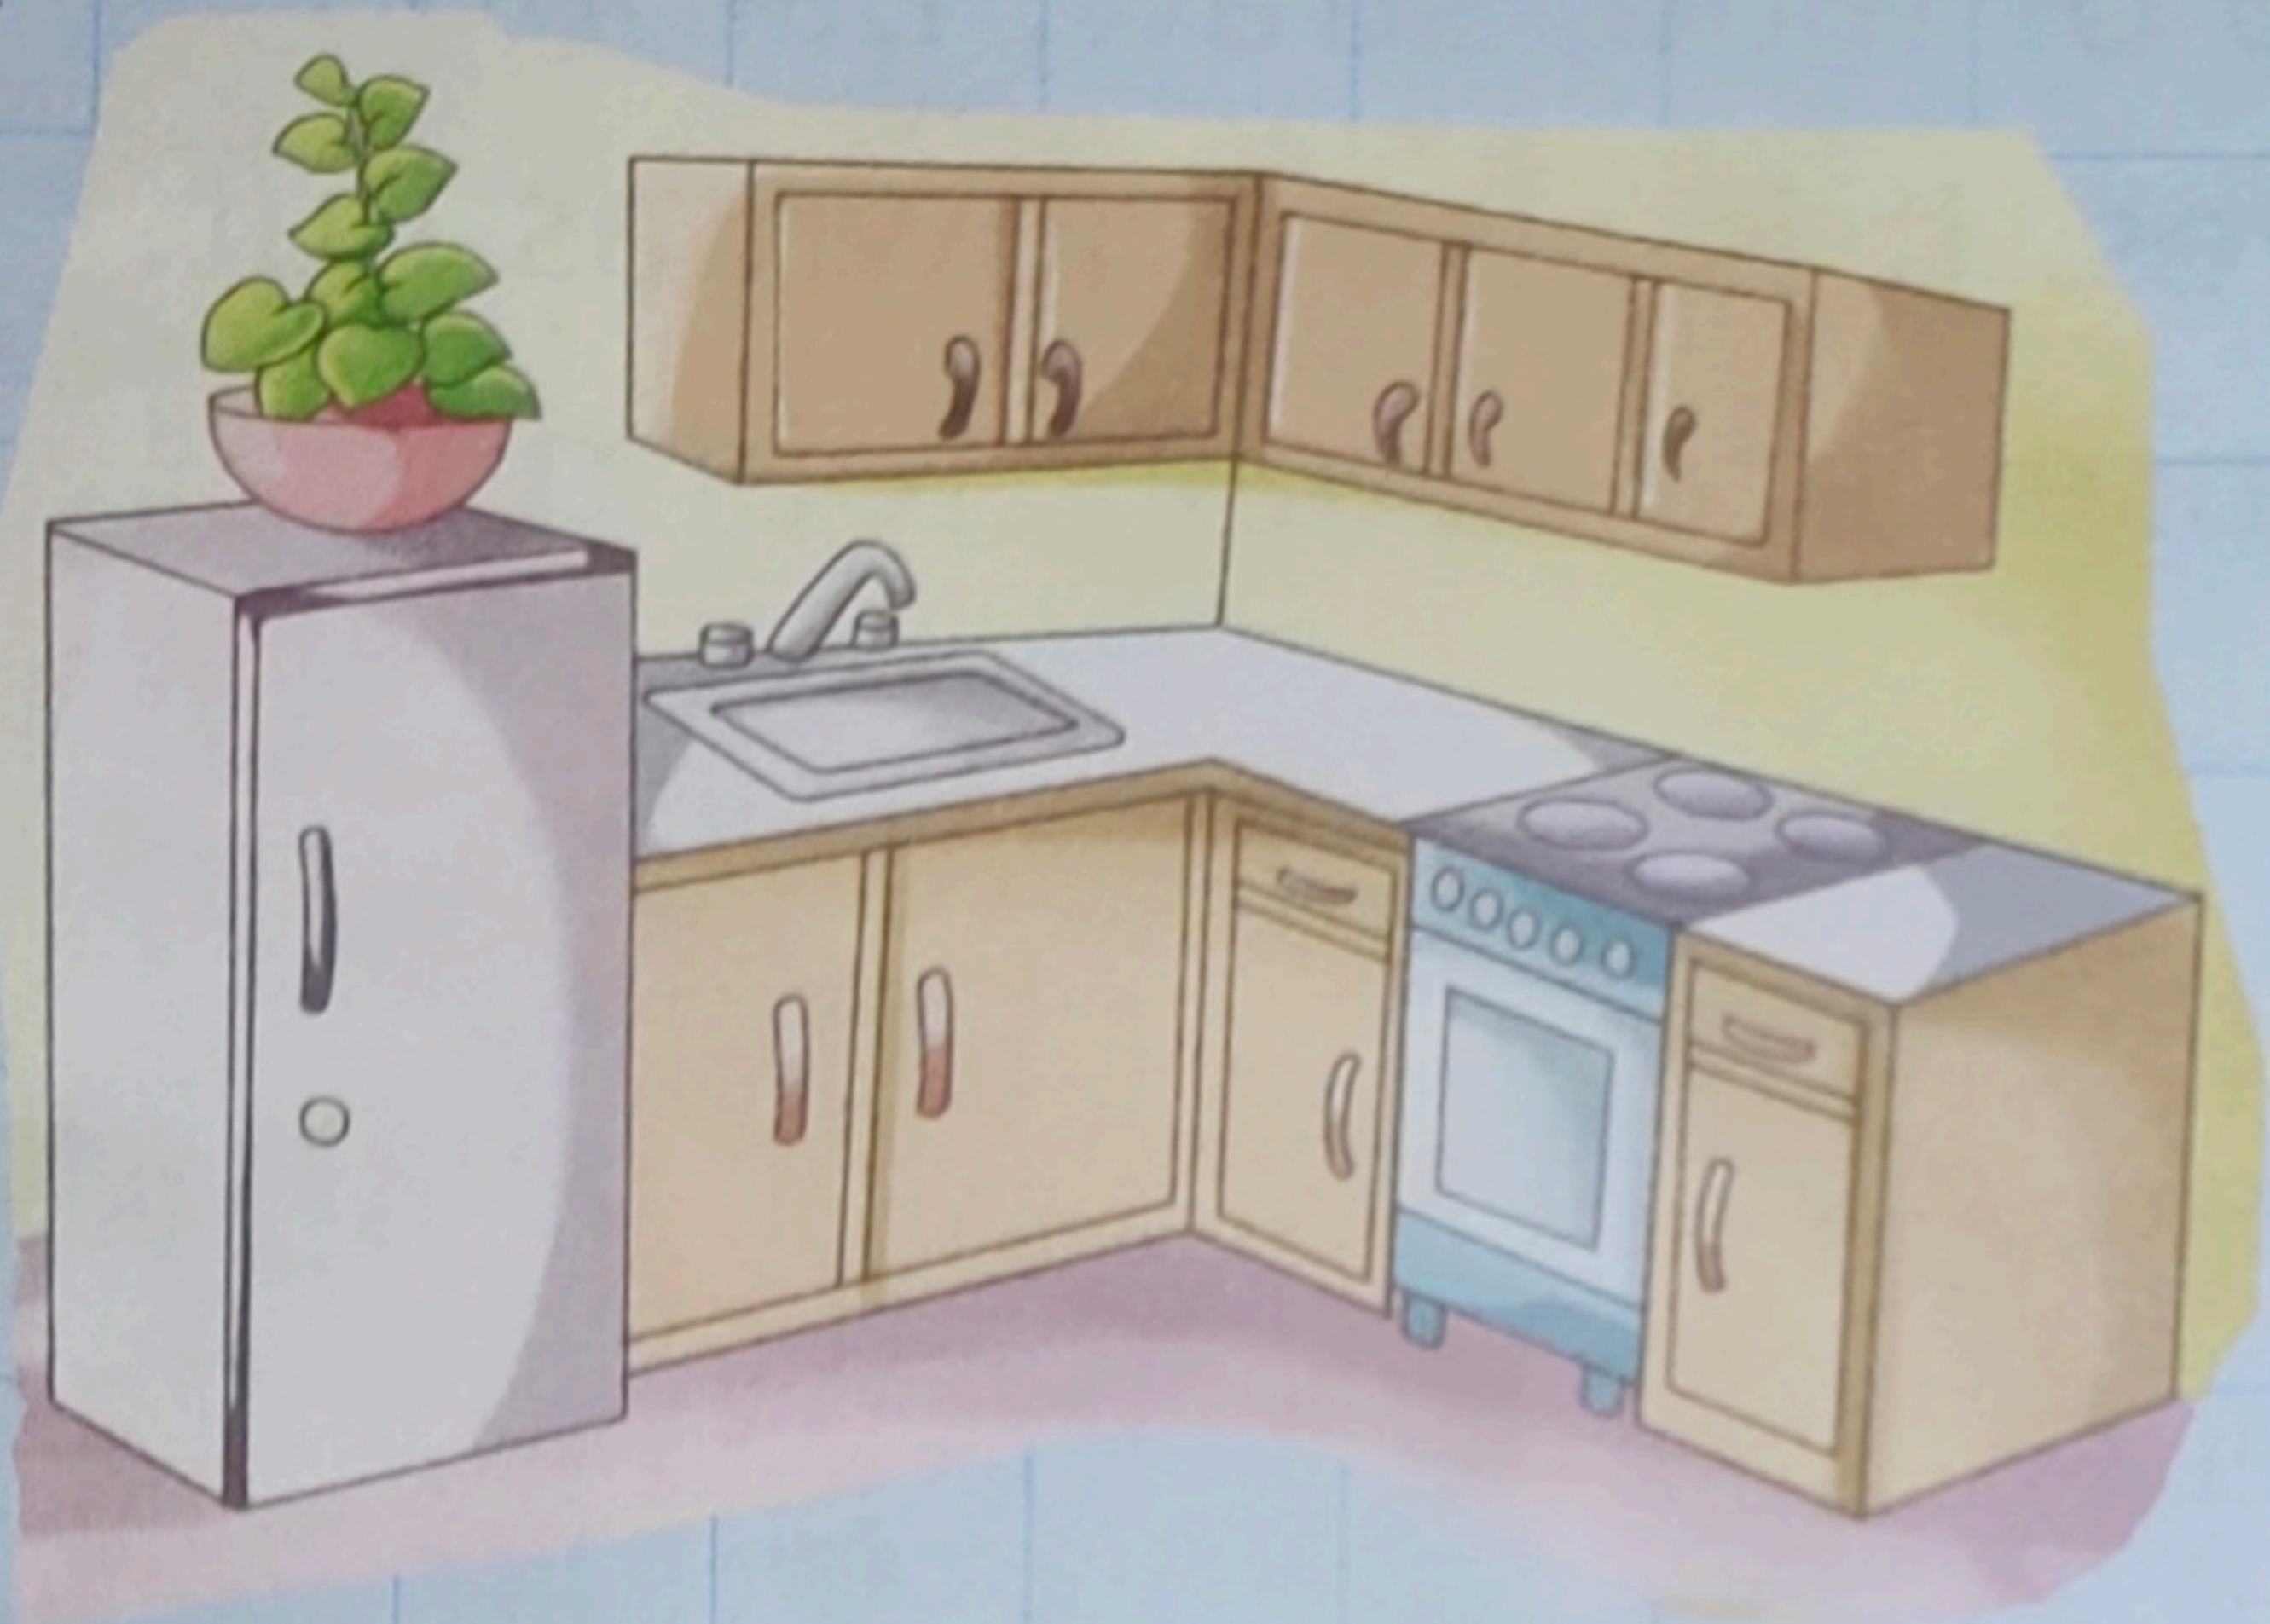

Dining room: Here we eat our meals.

Bedroom: Here we take rest and sleep.

Kitchen: This is where the food is cooked and stored.

Bathroom: We take bath and brush our teeth in the bathroom.

Study room: Some houses have a separate study room where one can study or do the office work.

Storeroom: Some houses have a storeroom to store all the extra things.

Here are some special kinds of houses :

Caravan: A caravan is a house on wheels. It is movable and nomadic people live in it.

Igloo: An igloo is a house made from blocks of ice. It is built in very cold places where the snow never melts. Eskimos live in it.

Houseboat: A houseboat is a house on a small river or a lake.

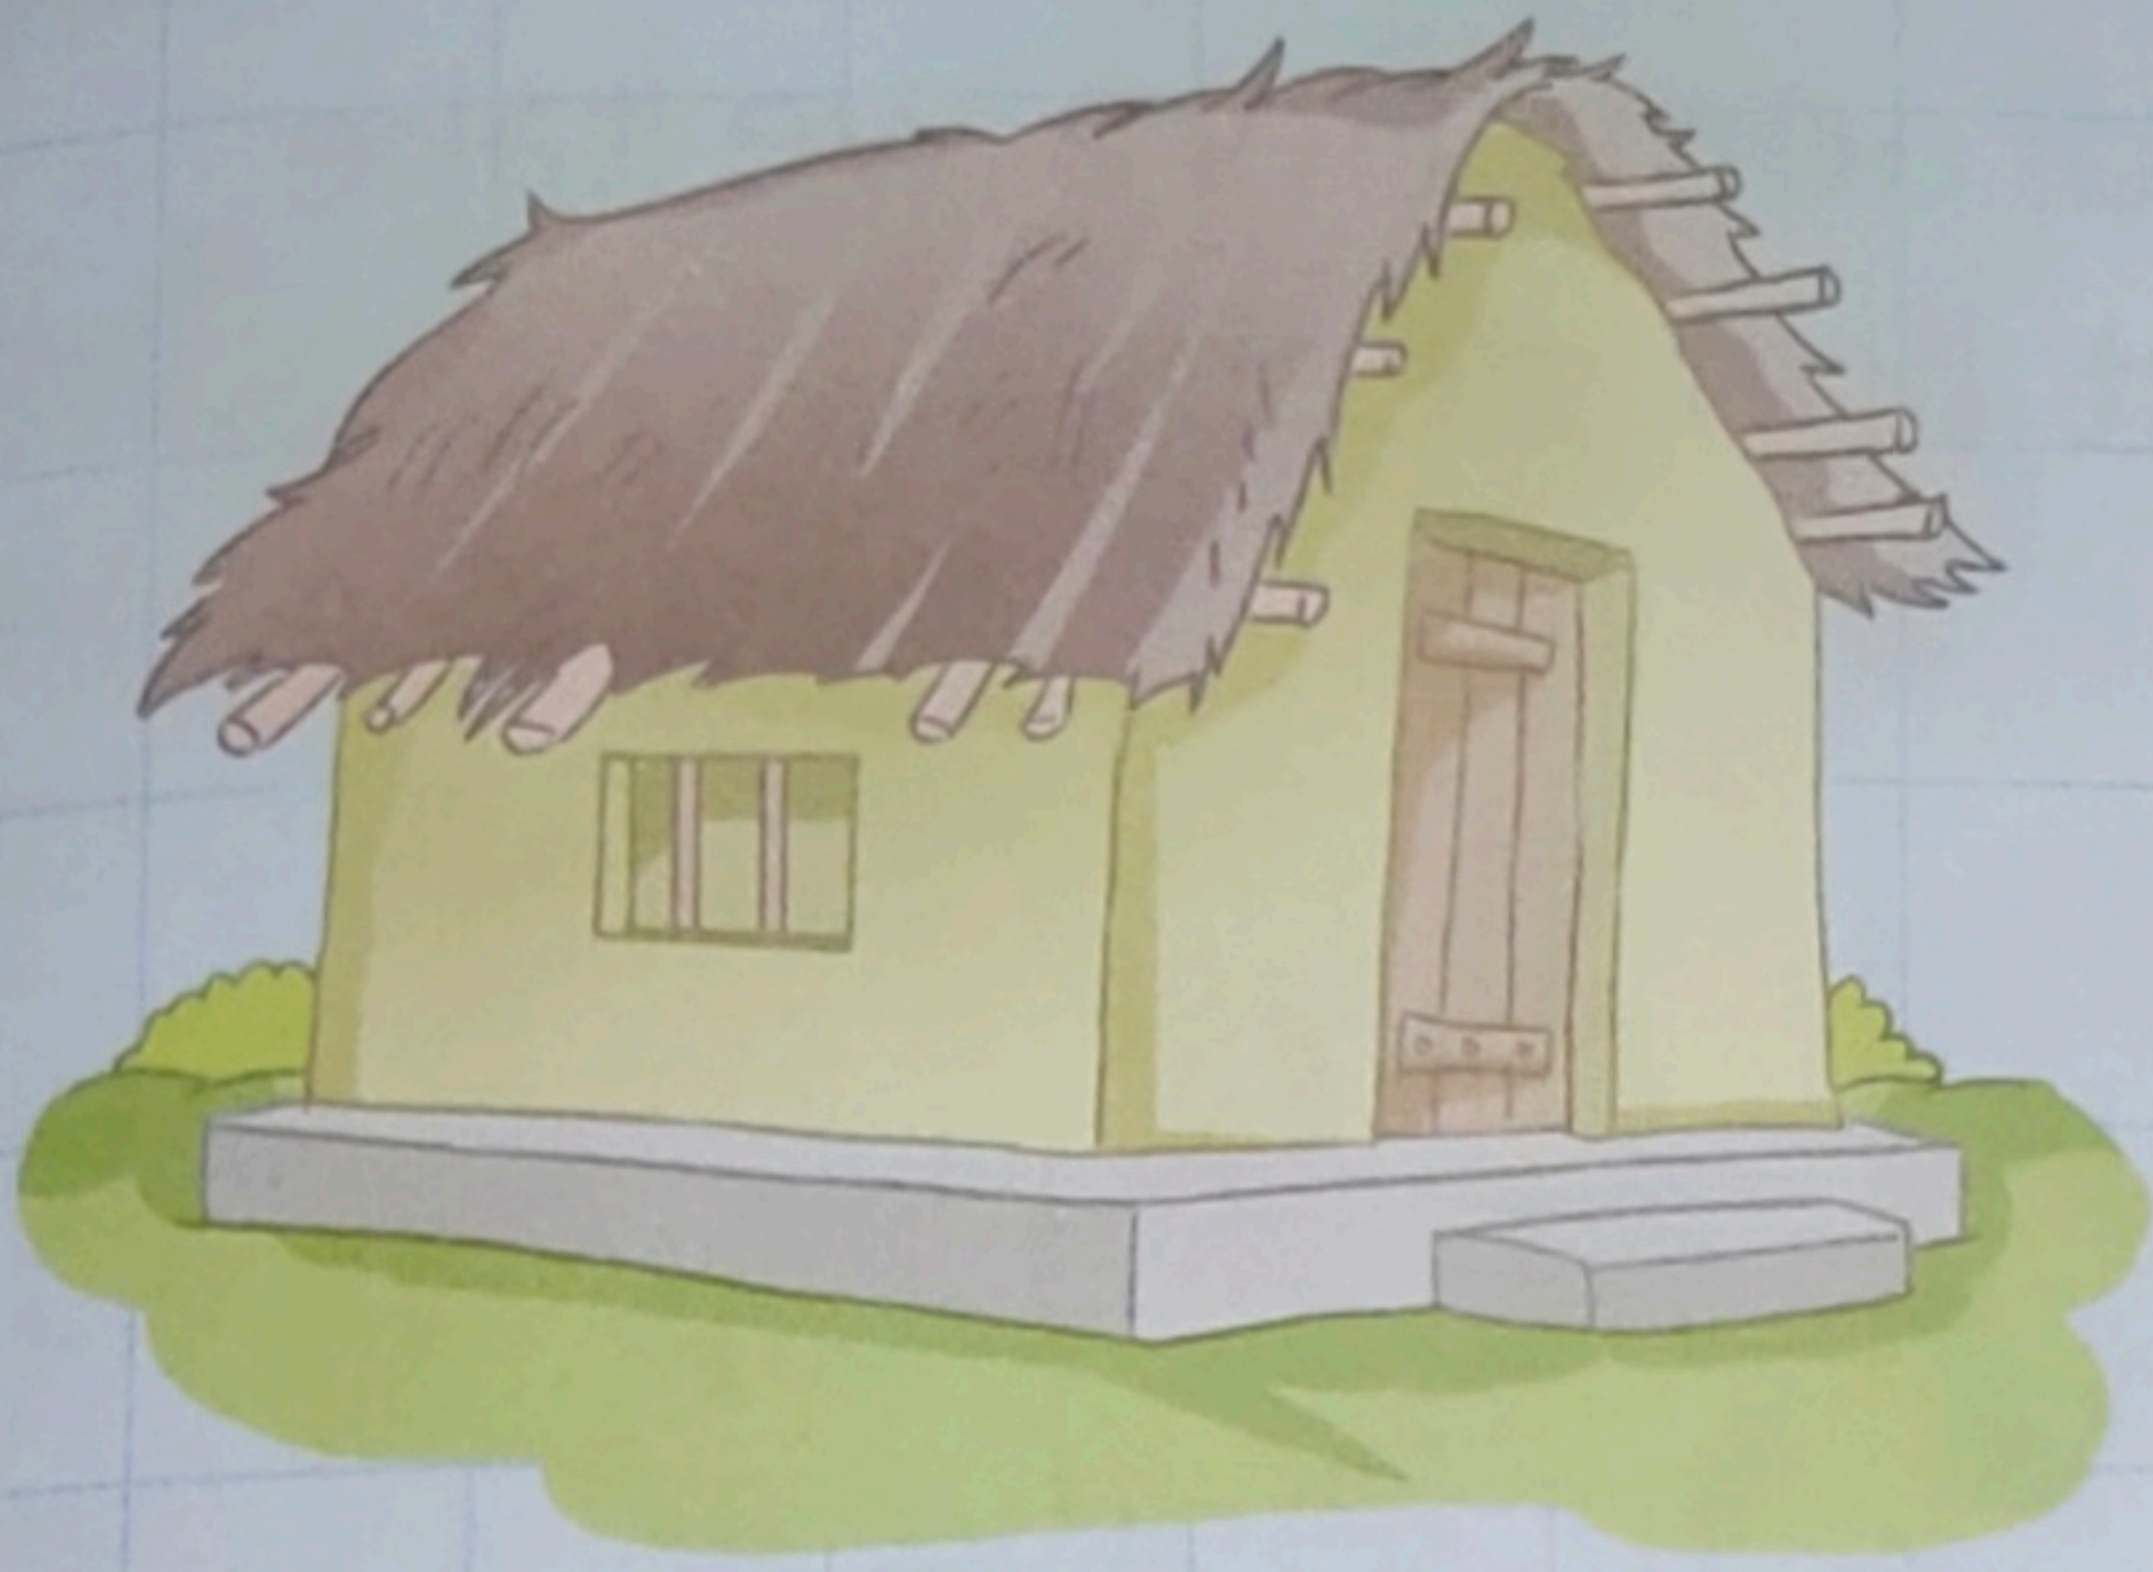

Tent house: A tent house is made of a thick cloth called canvas. It can be folded and carried from one place to another.
